THE PRINCIPAL'S MESSAGE

To the Class of '63

Catholic Philosophy of education attempts to regard a man as he actually is, an individual personality and a social being at the same time. With this in mind St. John Vianney High seeks specifically to produce the highest type of Catholic men — men distinguished in piety and in learning according to their God-given capacities. It seeks to train youth to love God, to honor and to respect their parents, to serve the Church and their country, and to assist their neighbors in charity and in justice. Each individual mart must be considered in the relationships of the soul-body complex, mind and will, character and knowledge, individual and corporate society in terms of the future and of all eternity.

St. John Vianney considers as one of its duties helping each student to determine the way of life and the profession or trade in which he might best serve God. Mindful of the needs of the Church, it frequently recalls to its students the importance of following a vocation to the priesthood and helps them to recognize a call from God to the priestly state. It sees in the task of training youth in the correct thinking and right living procedures a more important element than the training to produce technical skills obtainable later in life from a wide variety of sources other than the secondary schools.

St. John Vianney High attempts to give a unity of purpose to a man's life, to avoid a meaningless and aimless existence. A well-balanced sense of values, the ability to think clearly and to create constructively, the strong conviction of what God expects here and hereafter — these are the things we embrace.

When these ideals have been seen and understood, when they have at least been begun steadfastly, to be undertaken and labored at by a student, to be held in esteem and to be carried out for a lifetime, then we feel that we shall have succeeded in our aim.

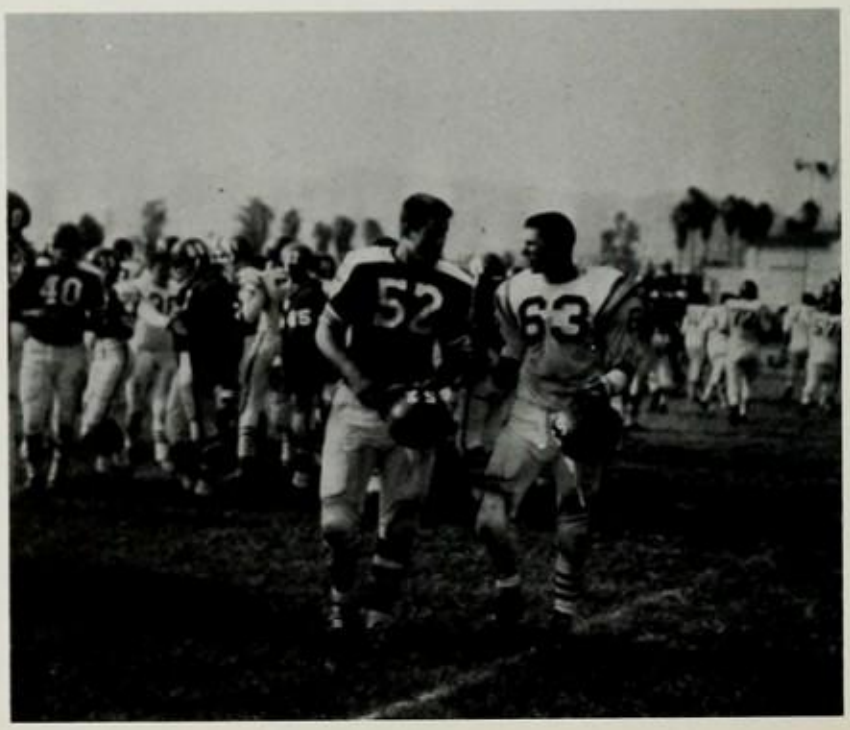
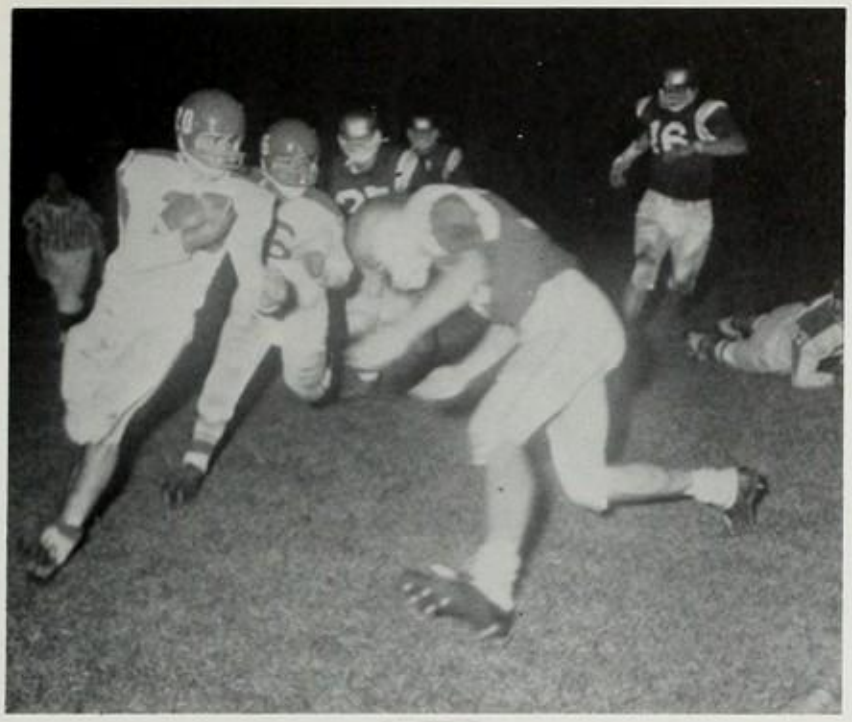
La Di Di



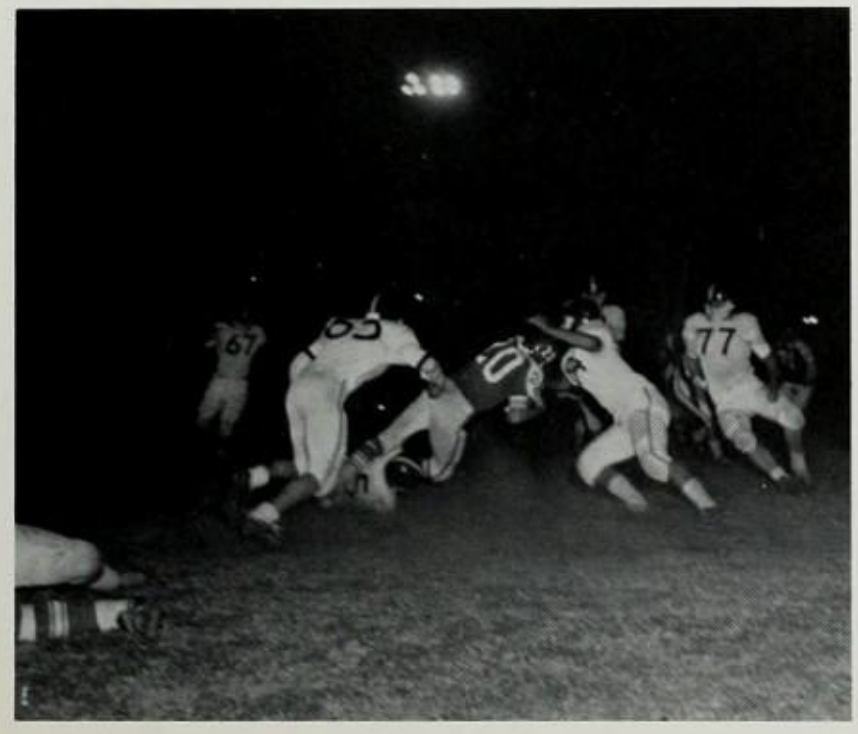
Yes, our bench has foam covering



Go ahead Gus, I'm right behind you

You're doing this to hurt me

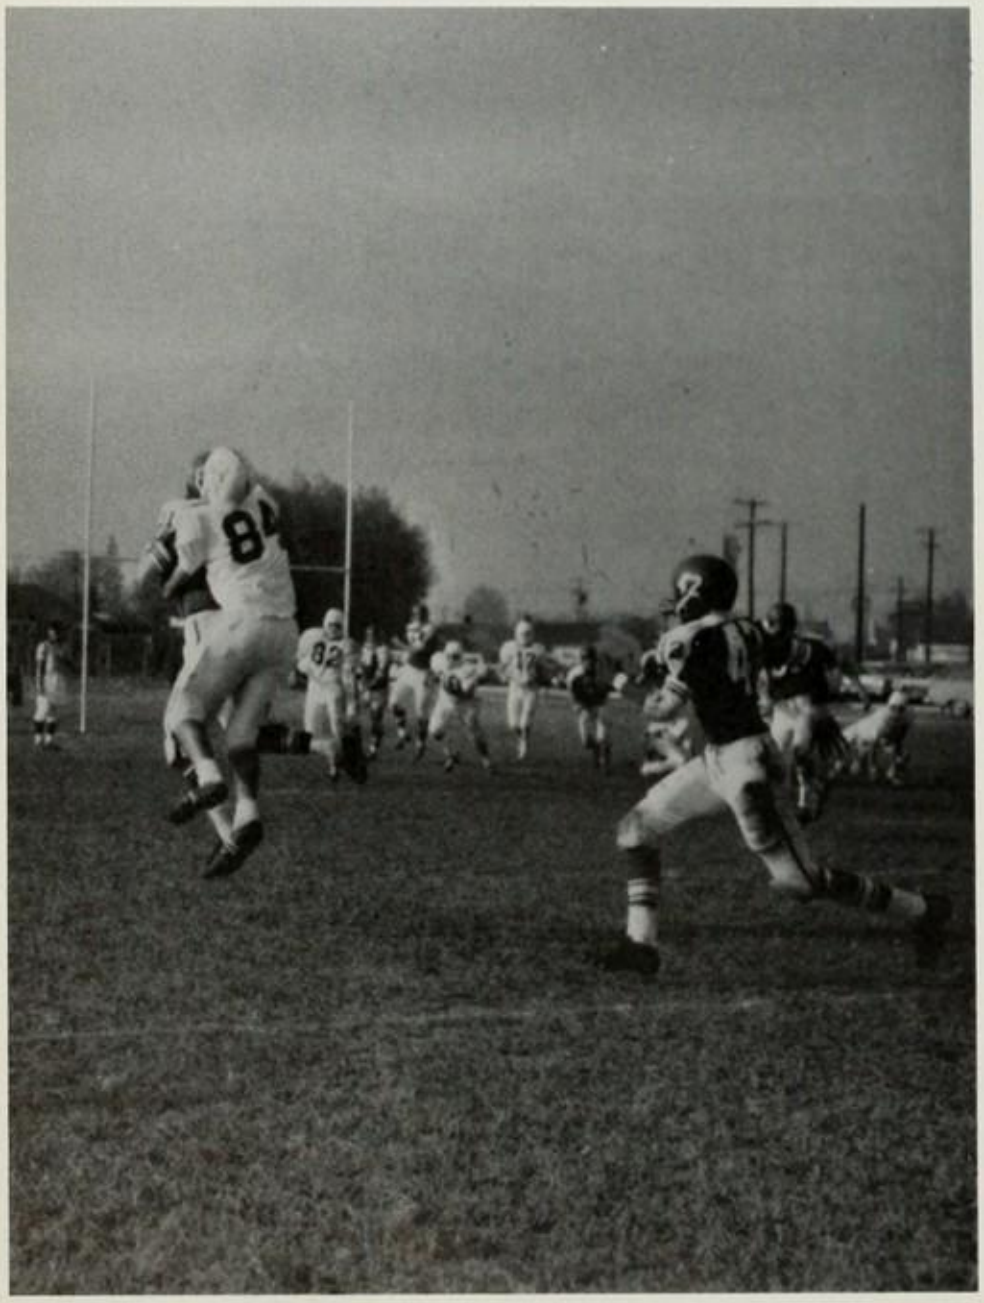
Wins again!!!



I hope it's padded

Kootchie-kootchie

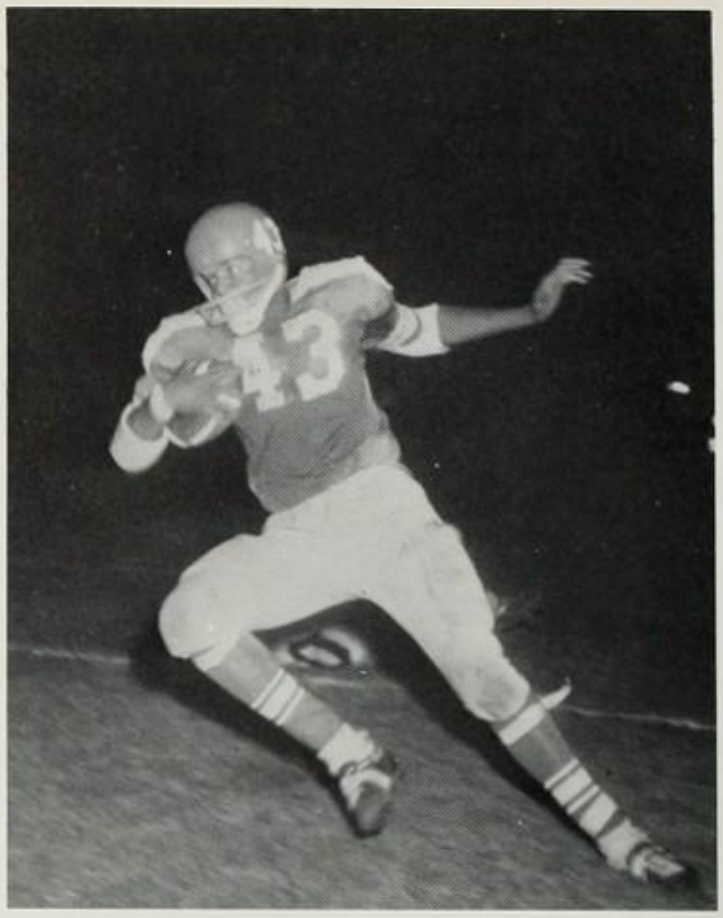
Stop! I've lost my contacts



Get off my pogo stick

Sanchez passes to Nanson

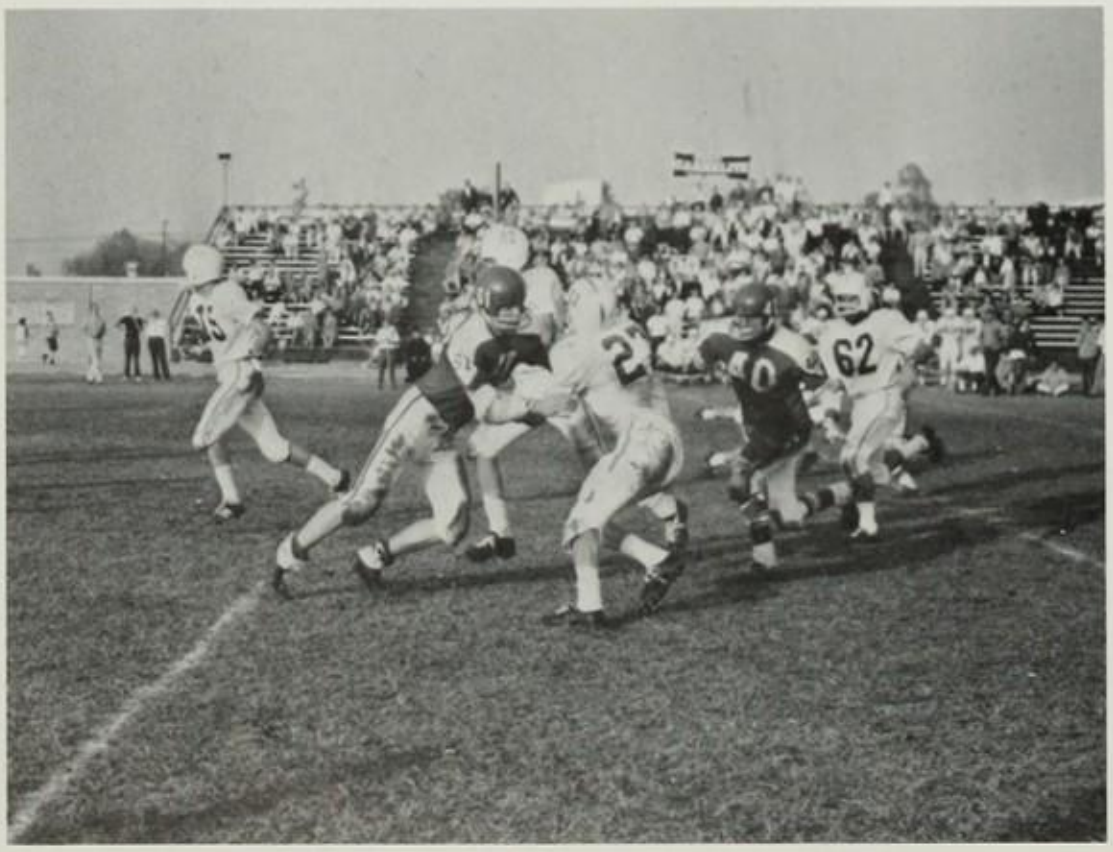
Sanchez sweeps end . . . alone



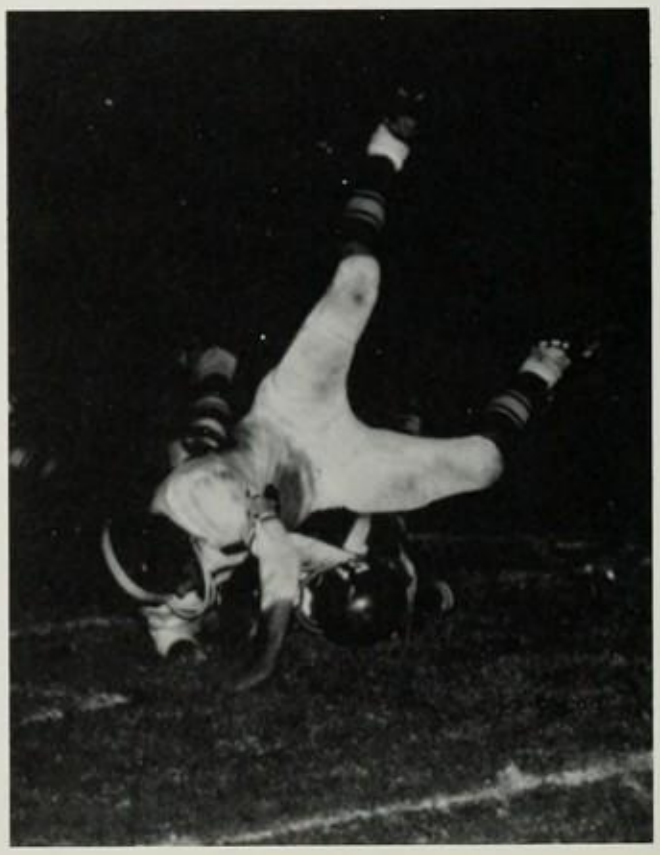
All alone am I

Hooold it!

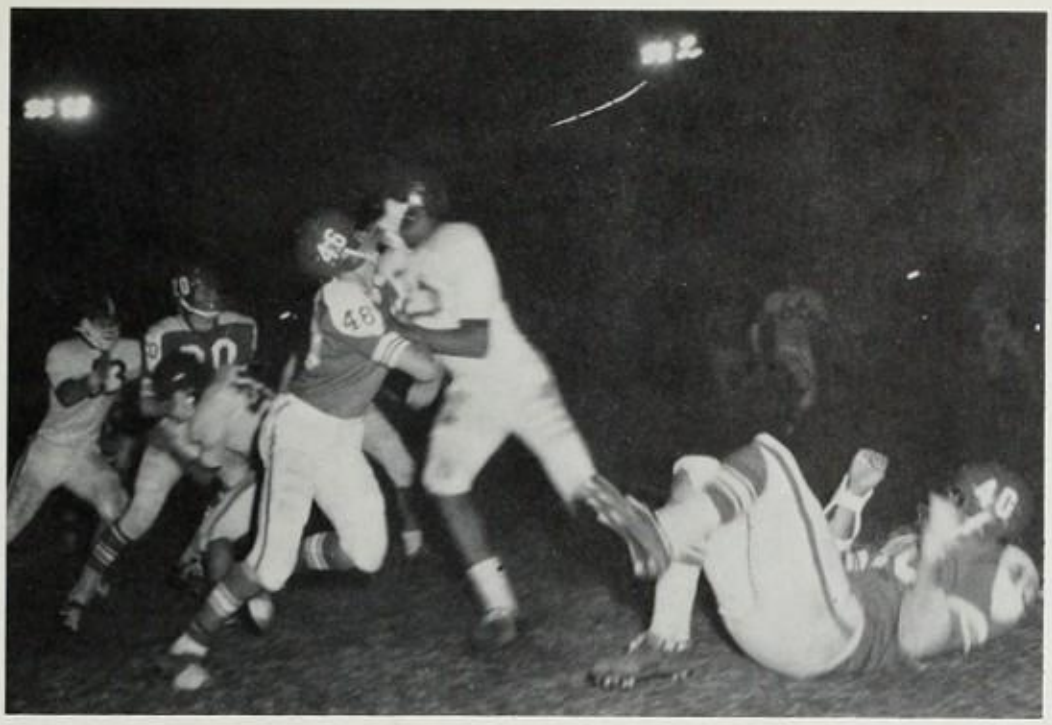
What do I do now, Ref?



Let's dance



Enjoy your trip!



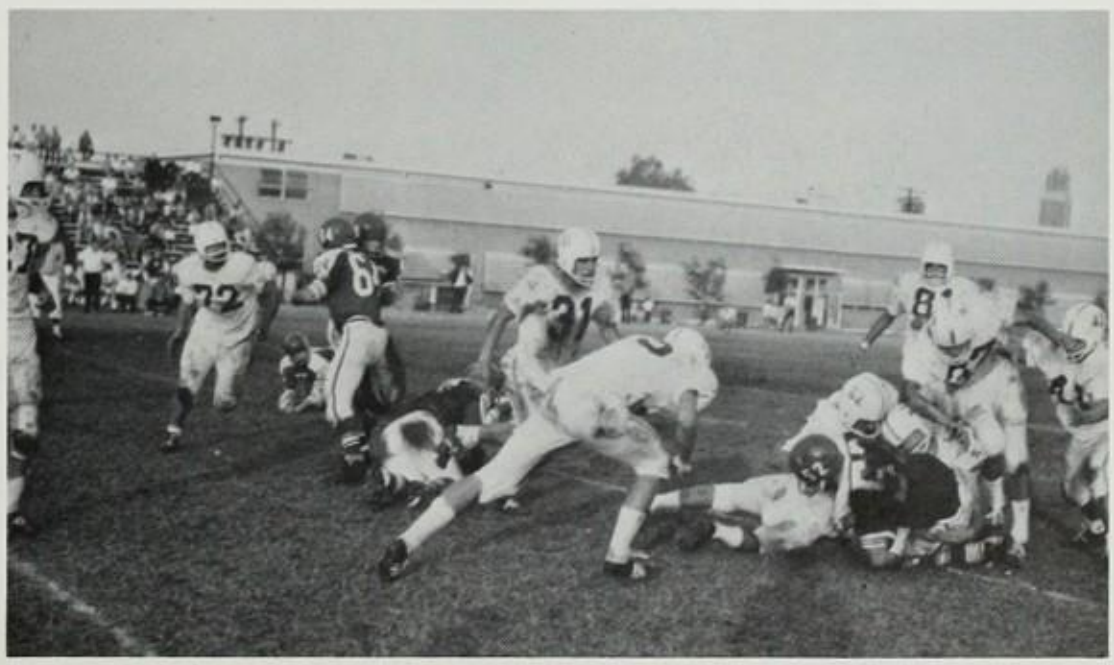
Maybe if I kiss him . . . ?

That Karate gets 'em every time.

It's here somewhere

I told you I wanted a double bow

Where did you learn ballet?



Big Jim bites the dust
